The traumatic experiences of persecution and genocide have changed traditional views of literature. The discussion of historical truth versus aesthetic autonomy takes an unexpected turn when confronted with the experiences of the victims of the Holocaust, the Gulag Archipelago, the Cultural Revolution, Apartheid and other crimes against humanity. The question is whether - and, if so, to what extent - literary imagination may depart from historical truth. In general, the first reactions to traumatic historical experiences are autobiographical statements, written by witnesses of the events. However, the second and third generations, the sons and daughters of the victims as well as of the victimizers, tend to free themselves from this generic restriction and claim their own way of remembering the history of their parents and grandparents. They explore their own limits of representation, and feel free to use a variety of genres; they turn to either realist or postmodernist, ironic or grotesque modes of writing. Water Vapour Line Parameters from Microwave to Medium Infrared - Nov 18 2022

Water Vapour Line Parameters from Microwave to Medium Infrared (An Atlas of H2 16O, H2 17O, and H2 18O Line Positions and Intensities Between 0 and 4350cm-1) is the culmination of long-range effort and represents a large amount of analysis and calculations relating to the properties of water molecules. The text is divided into major parts. The first half discusses the theories, and the second half presents the atlas. The atlas provides the position, the intensity, the lower energy level, the rotational and vibrational quantum numbers of the upper and lower levels, and the isotropic species. The book will be of great interest to scientists from various fields, such as chemical physics, molecular physics, and astrophysics. Comme un nouvel atlas - Aug 27 2023
Notre siecle se place sous le signe de la fin des totalites, de la dissemination, de la realite atomisee, des multiplicites pures. Autrement dit, l’etre prend conge de l’un. Mais il est aise de constater que la domination n’a pas pris fin pour autant. La multiplicité a son tour impose son regne, qui a pour nom mondialisation. Ce n’est donc pas le multiple qui nous libere, mais au contraire l’un, si du moins celui-ci se libere de l’etre comme l’etre s’est libere de l’un : une unite qui ne conduit donc pas necessairement a l’unitalite. A cette fin, Comme un nouvel Atlas noue le dialogue entre les trois grands philosophes (Plotin, Proclus, Damasci) du neoplatonisme, qui seul, dans l’histoire de la philosophie, a ose penser la difference radicale de l’un par rapport a l’etre. Dans cette perspective, l’un apparait comme une philosophie de la liberte, susceptible de repondre au primat actuel du monde sensible et du devenir autant et mieux qu’aux formes intelligibles et aux idees eternelles de la cosmologie antique a laquelle cette pensee originellement se rattache. Se definit alors un principe, qui tient et maintient le monde sans pour autant le determiner et moins encore le dominer : un principe meilleur que la puissance.

A review of comparative philology and comparative linguistics. Origin and Distribution of the Elements - Jan 20 2023
Origin and Distribution of the Elements, Volume 30 presents detailed studies of trace elements and isotopes and the use of these data with the techniques of physical and organic chemistry to make relevant interpretations in geology. This book discusses some of the problems of applied chemistry. Organized into five sections encompassing 89 chapters, this volume begins with an overview of the theories of nucleosynthesis that are based on broad empirical foundations involving experiment in nuclear physics and observation in geophysics and astronomy. This text then explores the primeval abundance of the elements wherein the composition of the material from which the Galaxy is formed. Other chapters consider the production of helium in the galaxy. This book discusses as well the dynamics of the cores of highly evolved massive stars. The final chapter deals with the measurements of site populations in crystal structures by electron diffraction and X-ray. Physicists, astronomers, geologists, and geochemists will find this book extremely useful.

Symbolic Landscapes - Jan 28 2021

Symbolic Landscapes presents a definitive collection of landscape/place studies that explores symbolic, cultural levels of geographical meanings. Essays written by philosophers, geographers, architects, social scientists, art historians, and literati, bring specific modes of expertise and perspectives to this transdisciplinary and interdisciplinary study of the symbolic level human existential spatiality. Placing emphasis on the pre-cognitive genesis of symbolic meaning, as well as embodied, experiential (lived) geography, the volume offers a fresh, quasi-phenomenological approach. The editors articulate the epistemological doctrine that perception and imagination form a continuum in which both are always implicated as complements. This approach makes a case for the interrelation of the geography of perception and the geography of imagination, which means that human/cultural geography offers only an abstraction if indeed an aesthetic geography is constituted merely as a sub-field. Human/cultural geography can only approach spatial reality through recognizing the intimate interrelative dialectic between the imaginative and perceptual meanings of our landscapes/place-worlds. This volume reinvigorates the importance of the topic of symbolism in human/cultural geography, landscape studies, philosophy of place, architecture and planning, and will stand among the classics in the field.
